EAST GWILLIMBURY PUBLIC LIBRARY

Gem Munro, author of South Asian Adventures with the Active Poor, will talk about his book at the East Gwillimbury Public Library, Holland Landing Branch, on Wednesday, June 9th at 7:00pm.

Humanitarians and educators, Gen and Tanys Munro are the founders of the Amarak Society which teaches poor mothers in Bangladesh to become neighbourhood teachers. Gem Munro has written a book about some extraordinary women and men in the slums of Bangladesh and how they have worked to create a new, more hopeful future for their families and neighbourhoods.

For more information about the Amarak Society and the Munros, go to www.amaroksociety.org.

THINKING GREEN

When renovating, decorating or purchasing furniture for your home, consider the environment throughout the process. Buying second-hand or vintage furnishings and building materials can help reduce the amount of waste reaching our landfills and decrease the amount of energy and resources needed to produce these items. There are many York Region businesses that offer second-hand or vintage items. Buying local helps support the economy, is often more cost effective, and may reduce transportation effects on the environment.
